Unisys, LA Medicaid's Carrier, to Sell Health Information Management Business to Molina Healthcare

Unisys and Molina Healthcare announced on January 19, 2010, that they've entered into an agreement that will have Molina Healthcare (NYSE: MOH) to purchase Unisys Corporation's (NYSE: UIS) Health Information Management business for an approximate cash price of $135MM. The Healthcare Information Management business provides design, development, implementation, and business process outsourcing solutions to state governments for their Medicaid Management Information Systems (MMIS). Unisys currently holds MMIS contracts with the states of Idaho, Louisiana, Maine, New Jersey, and West Virginia, as well as a contract to provide drug rebate administration services for the Florida Medicaid program. The acquisition is expected to close in the first half of 2010. To read further about the acquisition, please visit the corresponding press release website pages.
